Ranked Best Home Care Agency in Delaware County, Penn.

CINCINNATI –The Home Helpers locations in Delaware County, Penn., owned by John Squires and the late Adam Brown, were recently honored by being ranked as the Best Home Care Agency in Delaware County by a nomination phase conducted by The Delaware County Daily Times.

As a company that is passionate about providing the utmost care and attention to every client, Home Helpers stands out in the local community. These rankings were chosen by the local residents who voted for each company based on their own personal experience, solidifying Home Helpers dedication to the community.

Home Helpers is the nation's leading senior care franchise specializing in non-medical and personal care and companionship for seniors, new moms, working parents and those in need of continuing or recuperative care. Home Helpers offers free in-home consultations and works with clients individually to tailor flexible care plans to meet their specific needs and budgets. Services offered include companionship, meal preparation, light housekeeping, local transportation, medication reminders and more.

“Receiving this recognition from our community is bittersweet, as we are truly honored but also deeply saddened by the recent and sudden loss of Adam Brown,” said Squires. “I know Adam was extremely proud of this award and the quality of care we provide to our clients and our community. Adam’s legacy will continue to live on through Home Helpers and the dedicated care we provide each individual.”
