As more than 70 million Americans will reach age 65 in the next two decades, the need for in-home senior care continues to soar. Local entrepreneur, Ravi Chadha is ready to lend a hand and just launched a local agency to meet the in-home care needs of Chicago.

As part of the nation's leading franchise specializing in companion and personal in-home care for seniors, new mothers and other individuals needing recuperative and continuing care, Home Helpers of Downtown Chicago recently opened for business and began serving the local community in March, 2011.

With 25 years of management experience working for Fortune 500 companies, Chadha felt it was the time to take advantage of the opportunity to fulfill his dream of opening his own business. Chadha also had the personal experience of caring for his father who was dealing with Diabetes. His personal experience providing care for aging loved ones combined with his desire to provide a much needed service to the local community motivated him to open Home Helpers.

“As a new business owner, I am excited about the opportunity to help local seniors lead longer and happier lives in the comfort of their own homes. Providing in-home care was something I have a passion for to remember my father,” said Chadha. “At Home Helpers, we strive to deliver the same quality of care we’d expect for our own families and offer clients a more affordable alternative to assisted living or senior care facilities.”

Home Helpers is planning to bring over 60 new jobs to the local market within the next year. The home care agency also recently hired Dr. Maria Cristina Tosa as the Director of Home Care to manage caregivers, develop client care plans, and oversee all aspects of the care. “I am thrilled to get the opportunity to combine my passion for helping people with the excitement of building a new company,” says Dr. Tosa.

Home Helpers offers free in-home consultations and works with clients individually to tailor flexible care plans to meet their specific needs and budgets. Services offered include companionship, bathing, meal preparation, dressing assistance, local transportation and light housekeeping. Home Helpers also carries personal emergency notification systems and automated medication dispensers.
