

Owners of Yorktown-based Home Helpers honored with national award

By Stephanie Olsen, Inside Newport News Correspondent | October 31, 2011 10:58 am

Yorktown residents Gail and Randy Stathers, owners of the Home Helpers and Direct Link of Yorktown, have received the 2011 President's Award for Home Helpers. Home Helpers is a senior care franchise that specializes in home care. The Stathers were presented with the award at the company's national conference, held on Sept. 21 in New Orleans.

According to a press release, "the Home Helpers President's Award was established to recognize those franchisees who have demonstrated a strong commitment to their own franchise as well as a commitment to the entire Home Helpers and Direct Link franchise community, while continuing to build strong relationships within their local community." Gail Stathers was quoted in the press release as saying: "It was quite a surprise to be recognized for all our hard work. We have such a commitment to our clients and really focus on taking care of them. We feel privileged to be a part of the Home Helpers and Direct Link family and to be able to provide quality home care services to individuals in the Yorktown community on a daily basis."

For more information on Home Helpers and Direct Link of Yorktown, visit <http://www.newportnewshomecare.com> or call 757-989-0090.